ISSUE 6 August 2010

LEADERSHIP

From surviving to thriving – a guide for newly appointed principals
Published by Dare To Lead. Working as the principal of a remote community school can be exciting, challenging and rewarding, especially for new principals. This guide has been compiled to assist principals preparing for their first posting to a remote community school.

Stronger Smarter
Stories of leading school change and raising expectations from the Stronger Smarter Institute.

The changing leadership culture in Northern Territory Indigenous remote community schools: Implications for Indigenous female principals and school community partnerships
This paper by Martha Sombo Kamara, Australian Catholic University, explores emerging questions on educational change and transformational leadership in Indigenous community schools and, drawing on Hofstede’s analysis of cultural disparity, consider implications for Indigenous female principals and school community partnerships in the evolving leadership culture in Indigenous remote community schools.

Walking between Two Worlds; Indigenous Women and Educational Leadership
This article reports on a three-year research project conducted in New Zealand, Australia and Canada for/with Indigenous women. It discusses bodies of knowledge for/about Indigenous ways of leading and being led and evidence pointing to the triple bind Indigenous women face in educational leadership due to exigencies of race and gender and the two worlds they occupy; the Indigenous and the non-Indigenous.

GENERAL

Inside Teaching
Inside Teaching, the professional journal of the Australasian Teacher Regulatory Authorities (ATRA), looks at the latest research findings and addresses the issues facing the profession, with content by educators for educators that has hands-on, practical application. The June 2010 online edition contains some Indigenous related articles; an article about teaching Indigenous students, an interview with Catherine Freeman, an article asking how can schools best maximise opportunities for Indigenous students and others?

Link to resource

Financial literacy
Some resources for financial literacy from the Australian Securities and Investments Commission resources for indigenous consumers. Examples include Mobile Moola Matters, a humorous short film about mobile phone use and tips on how to control mobile phone spending made by Alice Springs High School students and resources on budgeting, saving and buying.

Link to resource

The Learning Federation
The Le@rning Federation (TLF) makes available hundreds of digital curriculum resources to help teachers embed Indigenous perspectives across all curriculum areas and to provide opportunities for students to learn from Indigenous content. This Indigenous content and perspectives catalogue showcases some of these materials.

Link to resource

The Indigenous Education Resource Update is a comprehensive regular email newsletter about emerging resources in Indigenous education. It details nationally appropriate resources, their availability, a brief description of content and utility, and a hyperlink to the resource.

Want to view previous issues? Click here

Click here for our Privacy Policy.

If you have been forwarded this email and would like to subscribe to this service send a blank email (ie. leave subject line blank) to join-ieru@edna.edu.au

Copyright 2010 Commonwealth of Australia. All rights reserved.
A joint project of Dare to Lead and What Works. The Work Program

The Indigenous Education Update is funded by the Australian Government Department of Education, Employment and Workplace Relations.

The views expressed in this publication do not necessarily represent the views of the Australian Government Department of Education, Employment and Workplace Relations.