BIOGRAPHY

Jake Plaskett is an innovative, self-confessed project-based learning evangelist. He started his career as a mathematics and music teacher at High Tech High in the US before joining MLC School, Burwood, in 2013. Jake then transitioned into leadership roles within government, catholic, and independent schools in the curriculum and innovation space. His experiences in executive and senior leadership at Rosebank College, Knox Grammar School, and Ruyton Girls' School has earned Jake recognition as one of Australia's leading educators in the innovation space. Jake joined the executive at Pymble Ladies College in 2021 as the Director of Student (Years 7-10).

Jake celebrates his experience as both a former student and teacher at High Tech High in California and has proudly provided professional development or coaching sessions at over 100 schools and university worldwide. He commits fully to equity, agility, authenticity and democracy in education. His work centres around developing inter-disciplinary programmes and experiences that encourage future work skills and inspire students to be curious, courageous, resilient global citizens.
